The result in this case is fairly to to 34 that some four months ago, before he was superseded, Captain Patten had completed a list of all merchant vessels salling under the American flag. The list, together with the introduction and letter of francaittal, was in type, and the proof had been read in September. Had it not been for the spasm of "conomy" which seized Public Printer Benedict, the work would have been published and in the hands of persons interested in the subject before Mr. Morton was appointed. After in which the standard of rebellion was raised."

He was greatly distressed because many persons in Rhode Island are not permitted to vibre, and yet Major Pirce in 1884 received 7,746 votes, a ai his competitors received altogether 7,730 votes—making a total of 16,476 votes. In 1886 Mr. Turner's 'district gave him 2,411 votes, and "Scattering" received 7 votes, making a total of 2,418 votes. In 1886 it required only 25,470 votes to, elect ten Democratic Representatives from Georgia, and the whole opposition 10te was only 2,080. In the Xith New York District Colonel Marriann received 15 many votes, lacking he came into office it seems that he discovered that it was not too late for him to appropriate the grork of his predecessor. He recalled the official letter of transmittal which bore the signature of Captain Patten and the actual date of the report, and substituted one signed by himself and bearing a later date. It is now said that he intends also to appropriate as his own the annual report of the bureau which was prepared by Captain Patter and put in type before the official change took place, but which has not yet been pub-

FRIDAY, JANUARY 28, 1887.

The President has referred the Interstate Commerce bill to the Attorney General.

The fishery bill has been referred to a sub-committee of the House Committee on Foreign Relations with instructions to report on or before Toesday noxt.

It is reported that ex-Governor Hoadly will move to New York and engage in the practice of the law. He does well to turn its back on Ohlo Democratic politics.

Reports from the special congressional election in the Eighth Wiseonsin District are delayed by deep snow-drifts, but the protective policy when it reiterates the thoroughly exploded statement that American fishermen hire the bulk of their help in Canada.

Editor Bunker will issue the first number of his new paper in Waterville rext week. Having had quite a rest now Bunker is probably in good trim for the work becontemplates, namely, the dissemination of unadulterated Democracy.

The Senate yesterday after a long do bate passed without a division the House bill for the relief of dependent parents and honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who are now disabled and dependent upon their own labors for support.

I had been waiting a week at Jefferson for instructions from Washington. I had written for permission to go to New Orleans, as I had relatives there with whom I wished to pass the water; but at the end of the week my hopes were all nipped in the bud by the following missive:

nipped in the bud by the Tollowing this sive:

Major—You will proceed at once to Fort Notion; thence with all poss ble dispatch to Fort Carson; and thence to Fort Kearney, at which posts you will pay off the enrolled men and officers, and settle all dity authenticated bills against the office on account of provisions, for age, camp and garrison stores, etc.

It is particularly requested that you will be careful and exact in your return of estimates for the coming winter months.

Capt. Goodwin will detail for you such escort as you may require.

This did not reach me by the hands of Capt. Goodwin, however, when I should have been happy to meet, but by the hands of Sergeant James Chanover, who came with six men under his command, to execut me on my way, if I deemed such escort sufficient. Goodwin, who was sick with fever and ague, wrote by the hand of his clerk?

with level and aguing the really I think more would be it your, way. There are no Indians on the trail between Jefferson and Stetson; and certainly this except is sufficient against any ordinary highway interpolation. Sergeant Cochover is not a very brilliant man; nor is he over and above sociable; but I have found him true as steel; and the privates—members of my own company—whom I send with him, you can rely upon in any emergency. Only—they have the common weakness. Don't give them too free ja run at the whiskey bottle. They wor't break faith with you to get it; but if allowed full sway they might get a drop too much for your they might get a drop too much for your own comfort."

And he wrote about other matters, but nothing more of his men.

After reading the letter I raised my eyes and met the gaze of the sergeant, who stood, with his cap in his hind, on the opposite side of the small tuble. He started when I looked up, and I thought he was ashamed of having heen caught staring at me so fixedly. But the flush quickly left his face, and he inclined his head another way.

We were passing over a narrow bridge just on the outskirts of Jefferson, when we met two men and two boys driving before them a drove of cattle. I had met and gone clear of the herd without difficulty; and was thiaking how I wend like to take one of the fatter bullocks along with nice, when an exclamation of anger arrested my attention, and on turning in my suddle, I discovered one of the oxen—a wild, frolic-some thing—had attacked the sergeant's horse.
